About Us

Hlophe Outdoor Media is a Johannesburg-based outdoor advertising company founded in 2025 by Thamsanqa Ramatsoma. The company specialises in strategically positioned outdoor media platforms designed to connect brands with high-volume township markets.

Our advertising platforms are located near shopping centres, community plazas, and key commuter routes within township communities across Gauteng. These high-traffic locations ensure that brands reach consumers where they live, shop, commute, and engage with their communities daily.

Townships represent one of South Africa's most vibrant and influential consumer markets. Hlophe Outdoor Media enables brands to effectively access and engage this audience through impactful and strategically placed outdoor advertising solutions.
